DETAILED ACTION

Receipt is acknowledged of the terminal disclaimer filed 04/22/2008.

The rejection under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting over US'134, Us'939 and US'491 are withdrawn in view of the terminal disclaimer.

The following is a new rejection cited during a patentability review:

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1, 2, 5 and 6 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1, 4, 13, 15, 16 and 17 of U.S. Patent No. 7,229,635 (US'635). Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because US'635 claims a method of either up or down regulating a G-protein by the binding of an agonist to a heterologous receptor(see claim 1). A non-bursting, non-spherical polymer microconstruct is administered intranasally (see claims 1 and 4). The neuropeptide released can be TRH (claims 13 and 15). Claim 15 also sets out that the endogenous compound is glutamate. The concentration of the compound can be from 1 to about 60% (claim 16) or 1 to about 10% (claim 17). While the claims of US'635 do not set out a nervous system locus per se, administration through the intranasal route and the access of TRH to glutamate receptors indicates access to such a locus. Therefore, those of ordinary skill would have expected similar therapeutic results from the administration of TRH as claimed instantly, given the claims of US'635. The instant method of increasing glutamate through administration of TRH to a central nervous system locus would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill at the time of invention given the claims of US'635.

Claims 3-4 are objected to as dependent upon a rejected base claim.
